LVMH Spurs $80-billion Luxury Rally as China Outlook Revives

Q3 sales add to cheer and rub off on group rivals Hermes, Kering and Burberry

Reuters

REUTERS

Paris | London: LVMH shares had their best day in over two decades on Wednesday following signs of improved demand in China, which also drove a wider sector rally that added nearly $80 billion to European luxury stocks' valuations. The world's top luxury group, which owns brands ranging from Louis Vuitton bags to Moet champagne, soared as much as 14% and was on track for its biggest daily gain since 2001, after reporting better-than-expected third-quarter sales, driven by improved demand in China, a day earlier. Its rivals, including Hermes, Kering, Richemont, Burberry and Moncler, gained between 5% and 9% on investor hopes that the industry is pulling out of its two-year slump.

The sales figures "indeed surprised investors positively and are likely to keep the sector's share price momentum alive", said Stefan Bauknecht, equity portfolio manager at DWS.

BETTER RESULTS EXPECTED

The quarterly sales rise reported by LVMH, controlled by French billionaire Bernard Arnault, represents the first quarter of growth this year for the company, a bellwether spanning fashion, alcohol and jewellery. It helped spur a rally that added around $80 billion to the market capitalisation of firms in the STOXX Europe Luxury 10 index, according to Reuters calculations, outpacing the last big buying spree for the sector in early 2024.

Luxury sector shares had begun getting some traction in recent weeks, with expectations that sweeping management and creative overhauls will bear fruit. LVMH's key fashion and leather goods division, home to Louis Vuitton and Dior, which accounts for over two-thirds of the group's profit, improved from the previous quarter but sales continued to decline, down 2%, year-on-year.

The group said that sales in mainland China, a traditional growth driver for the sector, turned positive, and that shoppers were responding well to new store experiences, such as Louis Vuitton's ship-shaped boutique in Shanghai that opened in June.

Sales from travelling Chinese also improved, but remained negative year-on-year.

Chinese appetite for luxury goods has been dampened by a property crisis, compounding overall gloom in the sector, which has also been buffeted by the impact of the trade war and economic uncertainty in its other key market, the United States. Chinese nationals, who account for around a third of luxury sales globally, drove about 60% of the industry growth between 2000 and 2019, according to estimates from Morgan Stanley.

RETURN TO GROWTH REASSURES

Third-quarter sales were reassuring, said Ariane Hayate, European equity fund manager at Edmond de Rothschild, citing improvements from "idiosyncratic" elements, such as Louis Vuitton's initiatives driving growth in China.

Sales in Asia, excluding Japan and dominated by China, accounted for 28% of LVMH's annual turnover last year. However, LVMH Chief Financial Officer Cecile Cabanis warned on Tuesday economic uncertainty and unfavourable exchange rates would continue to affect its business in the fourth quarter.

UBS, which forecasts 4% organic sales growth next year for the sector, expects an acceleration only in the second half of 2026, with collections from new designers entering stores starting in the second quarter.

China Files WTO Complaint against India over EV Subsidies

PTI

Beijing | New Delhi: China has filed a complaint against India in the World Trade Organization (WTO) over New Delhi's subsidies for electric vehicles (EVs) and batteries.

The Chinese commerce ministry has alleged that the measures by India violate several WTO obligations, including the principle of national treatment, and constitute import substitution subsidies, which are explicitly prohibited under the multi-lateral trade rules.

These measures unfairly benefit India's domestic industries and undermine China's legitimate interests, the ministry's statement claimed. China's complaint about India's reported EV subsidies comes as Beijing seeks to boost exports of its electric vehicles to India.

This follows the two countries' initiative to normalise relations after a five-year freeze in ties due to the Eastern Ladakh military standoff.

Considering the size and scope of India's auto market, Chinese EV automakers see it as a major source to expand sales.

According to recent reports, facing overcapacity with large production of EVs and declining domestic sales and profits amid price wars, Chinese hybrid car makers like BYD are looking for overseas markets, especially in the EU and Asia.

Royal Mint Warns of Delivery Delays as Londoners Rush for Silver

Bloomberg

London's demand for precious metals has pushed the Royal Mint into overdrive. A rush of orders from retail investors has prompted a ramp-up in output, but the 1,100-year-old institution is warning of possible delays in silver deliveries as it races to replenish its reserves.

A global surge in demand for precious metals has boosted silver prices by more than 80% in London's wholesale market this year, with a fresh wave of orders from banks and other institutional buyers culminating in a historic squeeze this week. Inventories in London's vaults are critically low, and fresh stock is being flown in from as far as New York.

Buyers have been flooding into London's street-level bullion outlets too, with voracious demand for small bars and coins prompting the Royal Mint to run its presses harder.

FRENCH FLAIR MEETS INDIAN MARKET

French Luxe Retailer Galeries Lafayette Set for India Entry

ABFRL to manage operations, Parisian retailer to open first door in Mumbai

Mumbai: Galeries Lafayette will open its first door in Mumbai's heritage Turner Morrison Building at Fort, three years after the Parisian luxury department store partnered Aditya Birla Fashion and Retail Ltd (ABFRL) for its India entry.

"India is one of the fastest growing luxury markets in the world. It is a young, ambitious and creative nation, and Mumbai the city of dreamers and its natural stage," Galeries Lafayette executive chairman Nicolas Houzé said at the launch event.

The store is expected to open in the first week of November.

Galeries Lafayette's entry is structured as a licensed franchise, with ABFRL managing operations and the French retailer providing access to global luxury networks. A second store is planned in New Delhi.

The upmarket chain will compete directly with Mukesh Ambani's Reliance Brands that dominates the country's luxury market through joint ventures, acquisitions of Indian designers like Manish Malhotra, and partnerships with global names including Balenciaga, Valentino and Tiffany & Co.

"A new India is emerging which is youthful, ambitious, and globally connected — one that embraces luxury as a statement of aspiration and a distinctive identity. Yet, luxury retail in India is far from its full potential," said Aditya Birla Group chairman Kumar Mangalam Birla.

The store — which is spread over 90,000 square feet — will house over 270 brands. As much as 70% of these are coming to India for the first time, including Jacquemus, Givenchy, Balmain, Maison Margiela, Thom Browne and Fear of God.

As per a Bain & Co report, India's luxury market is expected to reach $85-90 billion by 2030, propelled by an increase in ultra-high-net-worth individuals with net assets of $30 million or more, growing entrepreneurship, a strong middle class, greater penetration of ecommerce and demand from tier-2 and smaller cities. The premium and bridge-to-luxury fashion market is currently valued at $7.86 billion.

"For years, the ecosystem has lacked the right mix of real estate, supply and service excellence. As a result, Indian consumers have looked outward for the experiences they have sought," Birla said.

The partnership with Galeries Lafayette adds to the Birla Group's luxury portfolio, which includes Sabyasachi, multi-brand retailer The Collective, and exclusive partnerships with global brands like Ralph Lauren.

Priya Kapur Refutes Allegations by Karisma Kapoor's Children

Sunjay Kapur's widow urges HC to dismiss challenge to husband's will as frivolous

Indu Bhan

'Wife V/S Wife'

PRIYA KAPUR'S STAND

Will cannot be termed 'bogus' or 'forged' due to minor typographical errors and misspellings	No challenge to Sunjay's signature on the will
	Sunjay had provided for his children in the trust, not the will

New Delhi: Questioning the maintainability of the partition suit filed by actor Karisma Kapoor's children, who are seeking a share in their late father Sunjay Kapur's ₹30,000 crore assets, the industrialist's widow Priya Kapur on Wednesday told the Delhi High Court that her husband's will cannot be termed "bogus" or "forged" just for a few typographical errors and incorrect spellings.

Senior counsel Rajiv Nayyar, appearing for Priya, told Justice Jyoti Singh that Sunjay's March 21, 2025, will, which allegedly leaves his entire personal assets to his widow Priya, was genuine and that the allegations made by Samaira (20) and Kiaan (15) about the forged will are wrong and baseless.

"If the will is forged, will I spell my own son's name wrong?" Priya's counsel said while terming the dispute as between "wife versus wife."

"The only grounds of challenge to a will are if the deceased was not in a sound mind or that he was under some coercion or inability to execute the will. Now, I am being told that there are four additional grounds like wrong spelling, wrong address, errors like writing testatrix instead of testator and closeness of witnesses. Is a will to be invalidated because there are spelling errors?" Nayar asked, adding that no one has challenged the authenticity of Sunjay's signature on the will.

The late chairman of Sona Comstar was married to Priya Sachdev at the time of his death and had a son with her.

Nayyar said that "It' a fit case to turn down the plaint. The claim is bereft of cause — they never challenged the will... Such litigation should be nipped in the bud," he contended.

"It's a bogus challenge, they knew about the will prior to the filing of the suit," he said, adding that the fact that the will was produced seven weeks after Sunjay's death also does not invalidate it.

"Is the discovery of the will after seven weeks a ground to challenge the will? Is that a challenge maintainable under the law? Suppose I kept the will in my pocket, and it surfaces at an appropriate time, will it be declared invalid?"

The senior counsel told the court that it was not a probate proceeding and the siblings had neither challenged the execution nor the will in their pleadings. Prior to September 10, the existence of will was known and even after that date the will was put officially in sealed cover with copies to all. Despite this, there was no declaration asked for cancelling the will, he said.

Nayyar said, "He (Sunjay) didn't provide for the children in the will because he provided for them in the trust."

On Tuesday, senior counsel Mahesh Jethmalani had pointed out that the will had so many inconsistencies and lack of testimony from any of the three living individuals involved in its preparation — Priya and two witnesses — could not be relied upon.

"There is no digital footprint, no handwriting, no evidence of his physical involvement — he's a digital ghost," the counsel said, arguing that "unless Sunjay was of unsound mind or didn't know English, he wouldn't have signed a will containing such glaring grammatical and factual mistakes. A man with his education and reputation would never approve a document like this."

The appellate tribunal observed that Korea Trade Insurance Corporation was aware of the dispute before assuming the rights of JT Corporation (JTC). —PTI

Wide Repercussions in Indian Industry

The lighter rare earths are currently being used by Indian manufacturers as a stopgap measure to tide over prevailing curbs on exports of heavy rare earth magnets by Beijing.

"The scope of the restrictions which have now been announced is so vast and so consequential that it will impact every sector, be it aerospace, defence, automobiles, consumer electronics or industrial machinery," said a senior industry executive, asking not to be named. "It will hit all manufacturers who were or have started importing traction motors, rotary assemblies, electronic parts and components for battery systems from China after the stoppage in supplies of heavy rare earth magnets to India."

Rare earth magnets are used in about a dozen critical components that go into electric vehicle motors, as well as vehicle speed detection and automatic gear shifting systems.

According to the latest guidelines announced by China's ministry of commerce, any component containing rare earth magnet exceeding 0.1% of the total value will henceforth require export approval from local authorities with effect from November 8.

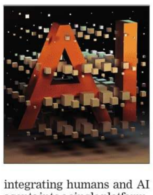
"Every company will be affected," said a second industry executive, pointing out that "the notification does give some time to make arrangements to safeguard operations in the short-term."

"But the problem is even if I develop alternate sources, it does not necessarily imply I will not be impacted. The restrictions are wide-ranging, covering everything from raw materials to equipment to technologies and components. There are thousands of parts required in automotive manufacturing and if some other company in the value chain gets hit, if even one part is not available, what will I do with the products I make?"

Salesforce Sees India as Key Market, Bets Big on AI Expansion

India a strategic hub as Salesforce expands AI and Agentforce 360

Surabhi Agarwal



San Francisco: India is "a very strategic market" for Salesforce, serving both as a key talent hub and a region with significant business potential, top executives including Robin Washington, president and COO/CFO, and Srini Tallapragada, president and chief engineering & customer success officer, said.

"India is a multi-functional hub for us. We have support functions and global leaders based here, and the country is critical for innovation," said Washington.

Salesforce is bullish not only on India but on the entire ASEAN region due to strong economic growth and opportunities, added Tallapragada during Dreamforce2025, Salesforce's annual event in San Francisco. Arundhati Bhattacharya, president and CEO of Salesforce South Asia, noted that the region represents 25% of global GDP and 26% of the world population, with India potentially becoming the world's third-largest economy by 2030.

The $40 billion company has invested heavily in Agentic AI with last year's launch of Agentforce, alongside partnerships with OpenAI, Anthropic, and Stripe. It also introduced Agentforce 360, integrating humans and AI agents into a single platform.

"We're entering the age of the Agentic Enterprise — where AI elevates human potential like never before," said Marc Benioff, chair and CEO of Salesforce.

Under the expanded partnership with OpenAI, Salesforce's Agentforce 360 will be accessible via ChatGPT to review sales records and customer conversations, with integrations including OpenAI's Codex and Slack. The Anthropic partnership will allow regulated and data-sensitive industries to access Claude models in Agentforce.

Brad Lightcap, COO of OpenAI, said, "AI systems will unlock human potential in ways we cannot yet fully comprehend. Integration with tools people use is key, and trust is critical."

Bhattacharya added that while Indian enterprises are adopting new technologies, adoption needs to accelerate, particularly once voice capabilities in local languages are rolled out in the coming months.

आज वर्ल्ड स्पाइन (spine) डे पर खास

सही तकिया चुनने से भी स्पाइन फाइन

सिर झुकाकर लंबे समय तक बैठने से बचना और गर्दन की एक्सरसाइज करके गर्दन में दर्द से बचे रह सकते है। वैसे, बहुत ऊंचा तकिया लेने या तकिया बिल्कुल न लेने से कमजोर मसल्स वाले लोगों की गर्दन में दर्द हो सकता है। सीधा सोते है तो बिल्कुल पतला तकिया ले सकते है। करवट से सोते है तो 2-3 इंच मोटाई का नॉर्मल तकिया लें। तकिया बहुत सॉफ्ट या हार्ड नहीं होना चाहिए। तकिया इस तरह लगाएं कि कंधे और कान के बीच के एरिया को सपोर्ट मिले। जिनकी गर्दन में दर्द है, उन्हें भी पतला तकिया लगाना चाहिए।

अपग्रेड होगा चिड़ियाघर, वनतारा का मिलेगा सपोर्ट

■ राम त्रिपाठी, चिड़ियाघर

वनतारा के नाम से मशहूर रिलायंस कंपनी के ग्रीन जू रेस्क्यू एंड रिहैबिलिटेशन सेंटर (GZRRC) ने दिल्ली चिड़ियाघर के कामकाज व प्लानिंग में कदम रखने शुरू किए हैं। कई साल से आर्थिक तंगी झेल रहे चिड़ियाघर को अपग्रेड करने में GZRRC आर्थिक मदद के साथ इक्विपमेंट आदि भी मुहैया कराएगा।

15 अक्टूबर को पूरा हुआ एक हफ्ते का एनिमल कीपिंग प्रोग्राम इसी तरफ शुरुआत माना जा रहा है। ट्रेनिंग प्रोग्राम में वनतारा की प्रमुख भूमिका थी। वनतारा के साथ चिड़ियाघर का पहले भी समझौता था। मगर वह शंकर हाथी की देखभाल तक ही सीमित था। इस बार का समझौता काफी बड़ा और कई हालातों का निर्धारण करने वाला है। इस साल हुए समझौते में शामिल पॉइंट्स में 3 काफी महत्वपूर्ण हैं। इनमें कर्मचारियों का आदान-प्रदान और प्रशिक्षण, जानवरों का आपस में आदान-प्रदान, वैज्ञानिक प्रबंधन और चिड़ियाघर डिजाइन पर परामर्श शामिल है। चिड़ियाघर के डायरेक्टर डॉ. संजीत कुमार ने बताया कि पॉजिटिव सलाह हम सभी की मानते हैं। वनतारा से भी सलाह ली जाएगी। प्रशासनिक प्रबंधन में कोई दखलंदाजी नहीं होगी।

- ■ प्रशासनिक प्रबंधन में नहीं होगी कोई दखलंदाजी : डायरेक्टर
- ■ अभी तक यह जिम्मेदारी शंकर हाथी तक ही सीमित थी

समझौता के तहत कर्मचारियों के आदान-प्रदान के मामले में वनतारा की भूमिका खास रहेगी, कारण यह कि चिड़ियाघर के स्वीकृत 207 पदों में से अभी 101 पद ही भरे हुए हैं। चिड़ियाघर में पिछले 20 साल में जनवरी 2023 के समय को छोड़कर, कोई नियुक्ति नहीं हुई है। करीब डेढ़ साल पहले भी जो नियुक्ति हुई थी, वह असफल मानी जा रही है। उस समय MTS के तहत 66 कर्मचारियों की नियुक्ति हुई थी। स्वीकृत रिक्त पदों की संख्या 97 थी। MTS कर्मचारियों ने अपनी भर्ती के कुछ महीने बाद से ही नौकरी छोड़नी शुरू कर दी है। चिड़ियाघर प्रशासन पर सरकार की बताई वर्क प्रोफाइल के अनुसार काम नहीं लेने का आरोप MTS कर्मचारी लगा रहे हैं। अब उनकी संख्या करीब 45 रह गई है।
