PALACE ART WALK

A LIVING TAPESTRY OF RAJASTHANI CULTURE

Begin your journey at Tulsi Mahal, our reception, where the sacred Indian basil stands as a symbol of auspiciousness. A few steps ahead is our magnificent marble fountain, a tribute to the fountains of the Red Fort, commissioned by Mughal emperor Shah Jahan. As you walk, notice the farsh (floors) laid with beautiful Jaisalmeri brownstone and Banaswadi stone, chosen for their visual allure and enduring quality.

As you enter the Kamal Mahal, our ceremonial reception, you're greeted by the opulence of Turkish chandeliers, assembled from intricate pendants. The Armoury Wall, adorned with jewel-encrusted swords and shields, narrates tales of valour that are a core part of Rajputana heritage.

TEMPLE RITUAL

TIMELESS SERENITY OF DEVOTION

Within the tranquil grounds of the palace lies our private temple a sacred sanctuary devoted to reflection, devotion, and inner stillness. Guests are invited to partake in the timeless tradition of the daily Aarti, where the gentle glow of ceremonial lamps, the resonant chime of temple bells, and sacred chants create a deeply spiritual atmosphere.

The morning Aarti is held at 7:00 AM, while the evening Aarti, performed at 6:00 PM, offers a serene moment of reverence as dusk settles over the palace. For guests wishing to arrange private prayers, personalised rituals, or special spiritual observances, our Concierge would be pleased to curate a meaningful and bespoke experience tailored to your preferences.

THE LEELA CEREMONIAL RITUAL

Spiritual

BIRLA MANDIR

The Lakshmi-Narayan Temple, or the Birla Temple, as it is more popularly known as, is located at the base of Moti Dungari. Built on an elevated platform, this comparatively modern temple is built entirely of white marble and dominates the skyline of south Jaipur. The temple was commissioned and built by renowned Indian industrialists, the Birlas, in 1988.

The temple is dedicated to Lord Vishnu, also called Narayan, and his companion, Lakshmi, the Goddess of wealth and good fortune. The temple is a work of art and has a marvellous display of exquisite carvings and sculptures covering many mythological themes. The eye is drawn to the images of Laxmi and Narayan, carved as they are, from one piece of marble.

GOVIND DEVJI TEMPLE

The Krishna temple is a rare spire-less temple and houses the idol of Govind Devji that Sawai Jai Singh brought from Vrindavan. The deity, worshipped by the erstwhile royal family, is also revered by the locals in the area.

MOTI DOONGRI GANESH TEMPLE

Moti Doongri is a small hill around which the city of Jaipur flourishes. Moti Doongri means pearl hill, because the hill indeed resembles a pearl drop. Visitors go there to pay homage at the famous Ganesh temple, the most auspicious and important religious temple in Jaipur.

The Ganesh temple was built by Seth Jai Ram Paliwal, sometime in the early 18th century. A legend goes, the King of Mewar was heading back to his palace after a long journey and was carting a massive Ganesh idol on a bullock cart. The king had decided that he would build a temple for the idol of Lord Ganesh wherever the bullock cart stopped.

AKSHARDHAM TEMPLE

One of the most-visited temples in the city of Jaipur, the Akshardham Temple depicts real architectural wonders. Surrounded by lush green gardens and charming fountains, the Akshardham Temple has unique architectural features, including the walls which are covered with a number of carvings and sculptures that are beautiful to look at.

This helps create an amazing atmosphere of peace and serenity, attracting not just thousands of devotees, but also a number of tourists throughout the year. The temple is located in Vaishali Nagar in Jaipur, and is devoted to the Hindu God, Narayan, whose beautiful statue is covered in silver and gold ornaments.

| GALTAJI TEMPLE

DIGAMBER JAIN MANDIR

The ancient Digamber Jain temple at Jaipur is in Sanganer, 14 km from the city.

The principal idol in the Sanghiji Temple is of Lord Adinath in the Padmasan (lotus position) posture. The temple is made of red stone and has attractive carvings.

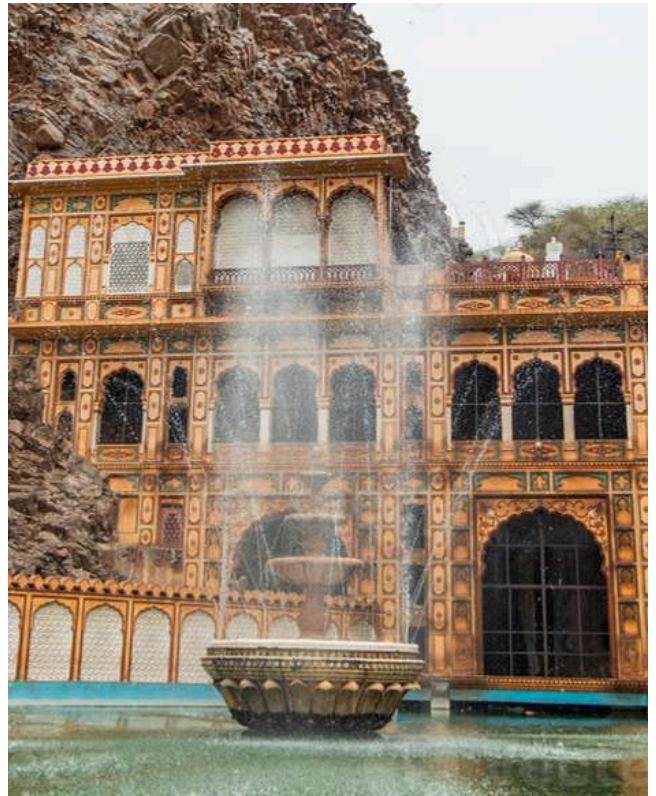

The seven-storied temple has sky-high 'shikharas' (spires) and its inner sanctum is a stone shrine with eight sky-high shikharas.

GALTAJI TEMPLE

Galtaji is an ancient pilgrimage centre in Jaipur. Set amidst low hills and packed with locals and tourists alike, the attractive spot has temples, pavilions and holy kunds (natural springs and water tanks).

Visitors to Galtaji will come across the complex of Ramgopalji temple, locally called the Monkey temple (Galwar Bagh). It gets this moniker because of a large group of resident monkeys.

The green landscape and chattering monkeys add to the delight of the area. On top of the hill is a small temple dedicated to the sun god, called the Surya Mandir. Constructed by Diwan Kriparam, the temple can be seen from anywhere in the city.

POLO HERITAGE WALK EXPERIENCE

SEASONAL | SEPT-NOV | JAN-MARCH

The Polo Heritage Walk is a thoughtfully designed that traces the journey of polo from its ancient origins to its modern global stature with particular emphasis on India's defining contribution to the sport. The experience begins with an engaging 60-minute storytelling session, where I narrate the evolution of polo across centuries. Guests are introduced to its early equestrian traditions, its refinement in the Indian subcontinent, and the codification of modern polo in 19th-century India, particularly in Manipur. It is during this period that India emerged as the birthplace of modern polo, from where the sport was formalized and later carried to England and the world by British cavalry regiments. Enjoy the remarkable legacy of the Jaipur Polo Team and the Jodhpur Polo Team. Guests gain insight into the golden era of Indian polo, iconic tournaments, royal patrons, and the enduring international reputation of Jaipur and Jodhpur within the polo fraternity. Following the storytelling session, guests proceed to witness a live polo match. We also discuss the present-day polo phenomenon including international tournaments, evolving global circuits, women's polo, and the continued revival of heritage grounds in Rajasthan.

Duration : 1hrs 30mins

In case there are less than 5 guests, applicable charges will still remain for 05 guests.

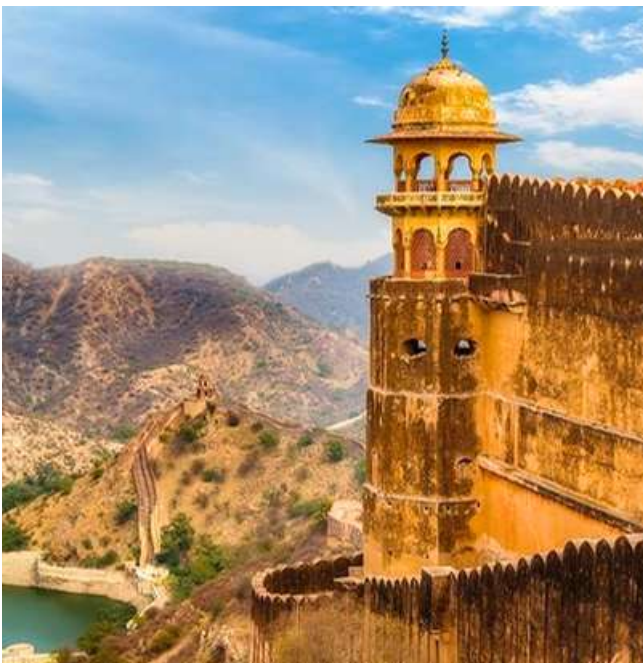

NAHARGARH FORT

Nahargarh Fort sits proudly on a ridge of the Aravalli Hills, creating an impressive northern backdrop to the city of Jaipur. It was constructed during the reign of Jai Singh in 1734, and was later expanded in 1868.

Nahargarh, which means abode of tigers, was a formidable barrier, defending Jaipur against attacking enemies. Within its walls, the fort houses Madhavendra Bhawan, the summer destination for the members of the royal family. Built by Sawai Madho Singh, the palace has 12 matching boudoirs for the queens, at the head of which is a suite for the king.

They are all connected by corridors decorated with delicate murals. Even today the palace is a favoured spot for local picnickers. The fort looks brilliant when floodlit at night. Overlooking the city, it presents a glittering view of the city lights.

JAIGARH FORT

About 15 kilometres from Jaipur, Jaigarh Fort was built by Sawai Jai Singh II sometime in the early 18th century amidst the arid, rocky and thorn-scrub covered hills.

Despite its ancient construction, it still retains most of its imposing citadel appearance. Visitors can see the world's largest cannon – Jaiban, at the fort.

CITY PALACE

Located deep within the walled city, the City Palace Complex was conceived and built by Maharaja Sawai Jai Singh II, the founder of Jaipur. A beautiful fusion of Mughal and Rajput architecture, the palace is still home to the last ruling royal family which lives in a private section of the palace. Maharaja Sawai Jai Singh II is credited with building most of the structures, but it was expanded upon by later rulers as well. The City Palace Complex includes the Mubarak Mahal (the palace of reception) and the Maharani's Palace (the palace of the queen). Mubarak Mahal now houses the Maharaja Sawai Man Singh II Museum and displays a vast and unique collection of royal costumes, delicate Pashmina (Kashmiri) shawls, Benaras silk saris, and other dresses with Sangneri prints and folk embroidery.

GAITORE (MEMORIALS OF KINGS)

Just off the Jaipur-Amber road is Gaitore, where the former Maharajas of Jaipur are entombed. The chhatris (cenotaphs), made of white marble display the distinctive Rajput style of architecture. The open pavilions with ornate domes are supported by delicately sculpted pillars. The crematorium is located in the middle of yellow sandstone hills.

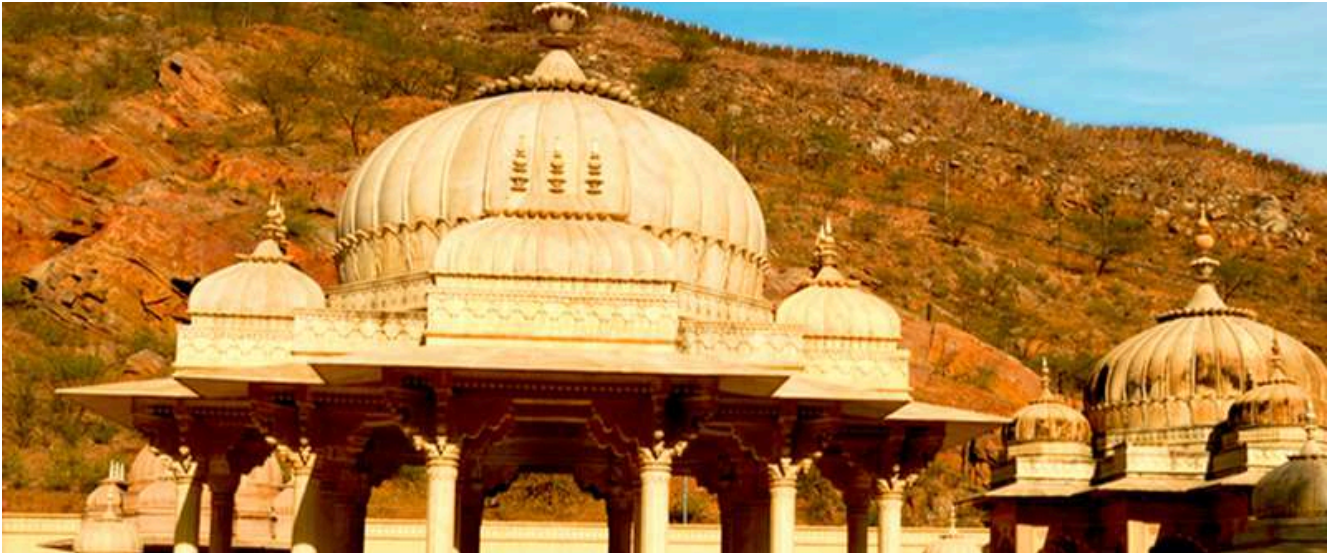

The décor and extravagance of a particular chattri is meant to reflect the stature and prowess of the ruler it contains. The most graceful and beautiful chattri at Gaitor is that of Maharaja Jai Singh with 20 carved pillars. Tourists are especially drawn towards it because of its intricate carvings.

MAHARANI KI CHHATRI (MEMORIALS OF QUEENS)

Maharani Ki Chhatri was a special funeral area for women belonging to Jaipur's royal family and is located on the way to Amber fort. This crematorium has several exquisitely carved cenotaphs built to commemorate them. The cenotaphs are either built with marble or the local stones. As a popular belief, a cenotaph was finished with a roof structure only if the queen died before her king.

In case she died after the king, it would remain unfinished. One of the significant features of these cenotaphs is the use of chhatri (umbrella), a quintessential architectural style of the Rajputs.

JAWAHAR CIRCLE

Located near the Jawaharlal Nehru Marg in the Pink City, Jaipur, the Jawahar Circle is a unique destination for all kinds of visitors. Honored as the largest circular park in Asia, Jawahar Circle is encompassed by a rose garden and offers a number of concentric jogging tracks, benches, and lush greenery. While the beautifully landscaped plantations and green areas of the park are enough to leave a visitor awed, the main attraction of the park has definitely got to be the Musical Fountain.

The fountain creates spectacular shows with over 270 types of effects and over 300 colorful lights. Sometimes, the height of the water of the musical fountain reaches up to 25 feet as well. While Jawahar Circle is a delight to be in to spend a day relaxing amidst nature, it gets even better in the evening hours. Artfully lit up, the musical fountain show is a 30-minute treat that begins at 7 in the evening, and is something that simply cannot be missed.
